CLEAN, FUNNY CORPORATE COMEDIAN, EMCEE AND BILINGUAL BENEFIT AUCTIONEER

Choosing the right comedian may not necessarily make you a hero, but choosing the wrong one, could cost you your job.

Featured on CNN's Business Unusual, and a writer-at-large for The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, Frank King is a corporate comedian, emcee, and benefit auctioneer whose comedy is clean, clever, and customized to your attendees, as well as, to the goals and vision of your event.

He'll make you and the entire speaker selection committee look good. And more importantly, keep you from having to look for another job.

Why book Frank King?

He will be the talk of your event, whether he's:

- Roasting the high and mighty in a fun and gentle manner
- Delivering one of his hilarious 3 Little Words, Laugh Out Loud keynote speeches (motivational, inspirational, wellness or just plain funny)
- Acting as a comic master of ceremonies keeping the event fun, moving, and on time
- Posing as a corporate imposter, sounding like he knows exactly what he's talking about, but of course, has no earthly idea
- Serving as a humorous host and MC, from the opening general session to the final meal, handling all the housekeeping announcements, speaker introductions and regaling the attendees with a funny take on things he's observed while hanging out with them
- Raising money at your live auction, as your Benefit Auctioneer Specialist (in English or Spanish, or both)

Or all of the above
